Temple Overview

London Sri Murugan Temple is a Hindu Religious charity which was formed in 1975. In 2005, the Trustees opened a grand new Temple built mostly in granite with a 50 feet Rajagopuram (Tower) conforming to the South Indian (agama shastra) architectural principle. The Temple has become a phenomenal success not only as a place of worship but also as a community centre for social and cultural services. London Sri Murugan Temple is now a well-established landmark in the London Borough of Newham. Many students from local schools, visitors from further afield and international countries visit the Temple on a regular basis.

The successful candidate will be instrumental in motivating and encouraging the devotees to participate regularly in all temple activities. None of the rituals, rites, poojas that are performed by the priests and/or priest assistants in our temple involves any preaching or leading a congregation.

Our priests/priest assistants are well renowned and have acquired their skills and knowledge via the most prestigious Hindu educational centres (Vedagama Vidyalayam) in Tamil Nadu. They are regularly asked to visit and perform prayers / poojas at various national and international events and auspicious functions.

The successful candidate will be instrumental in motivating and encouraging the devotees to participate regularly in all temple activities. None of the rituals, rites, poojas that are performed by the priests and/or priest assistants in our temple involves any preaching or leading a congregation.
